CA. SUNIL H. TALATI

You are kindly aware that India is negotiating for fresh FTAs and trade concessions with major economies and regional blocs. India has already inked India-UAE Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) on 18 February 2022 which is slated to open up a host of opportunities for both the economies. The trade pact is envisaged to increase the bilateral trade in goods from the present levels of US$60 billion to US$100 billion over the next five years, and also achieve services trade worth US$15 billion.

India is looking forward to conclude FTA negotiations with UK, EU, Australia, Canada, the GCC, the South African Customs Union and Israel in the near future.

This issue of India Serves focusses on Free Trade Agreements as there is renewed focus on services sector. Trade arrangements are very important for the services industry because unlike merchandise trade where generally simple tariff rates play the role of trade barrier, which can many a times be worked out through production and transportation cost cutting, home country's incentives, etc but services face deeper trade restrictions and cannot be exported even at lower rates if market access is not granted by the destination country. Earlier trade arrangements were used to focus only on the merchandise trade but now seeing the growing importance of services trade in countries' GDP and employment, almost all new trade agreements are considering services trade negotiations.

We will be adding immense value to your exports endeavour through series of activities, promotional events in India and abroad, capacity building programmes and above all creating enabling business environment through policy initiatives and taking up issues of concern

DGFT is in the process of formulating Foreign Trade Policy and we do understand that Services sector exporters are very much concerned whether the services sector will be incentivised on the lines of SEIS or in some other forms. SEPC has been striving hard to suggest alternatives to DGFT. We had a meeting with Hon'ble Minister of Commerce and Industry in the first week of March 2022. Shri Piyush Goel has assured that Services sector will be given its due in new FTP and asked SEPC to suggest outcome oriented (export growth, job creation, new and emerging markets) schemes. Department of Commerce will be mainly focussing on Travel and tourism including hospitality, Healthcare (including MVT), Education, Accounting and Book keeping, AVCG, construction and engineering design consultancy for incentives. We had requested services exporters to send their inputs.

I take this opportunity to make an earnest request services sector exporters to remain associated with SEPC as member. We will be adding immense value to your exports endeavour through series of activities, promotional events in India and abroad, capacity building programmes and above all creating enabling business environment through policy initiatives and taking up issues of concern.

As we all know that with the unfortunate eruption of war between Russia and Ukraine, our business with both the countries has got badly affected and a substantial amount of payment for our exports has got stuck in Russia and Ukraine due to war and sanctions. SEPC is collecting details of the Indian services exporters' payments stuck and would take it up with the government of India on an urgent basis for the best possible solution.

SERVICES EXPORT PROMOTION COLINCIA

Yours Sincerely

C.A. Sunil H. Talati

for Services Sector

A Free Trade Agreement (FTA) is an agreement or pact between two or more countries where the countries agree on certain obligations that ease or liberalise trade in goods and services, commerce, transit and investments, etc. FTAs help in facilitation of foreign investment and protection of intellectual property rights, besides other benefits. The main goal of trade agreements is to reduce barriers to exports and facilitate easy flow of goods, services, human resources and investment among FTA partner countries.

Depending on the terms of arrangement agreed on by the participating countries, there are many types of trade agreements. Some of the commonly used categories are as follows;

Free Trade Agreement (FTA)

A free trade agreement is an agreement in which two or more countries agree to provide preferential trade terms, tariff concession etc. to the partner country. Here a negative list of products and services is maintained by the negotiating countries on which the terms of FTA are not applicable hence it is more comprehensive than preferential trade agreement. India has negotiated FTA with many countries e.g. Sri Lanka and ASEAN.

Preferential Trade Agreement (PTA)

Preferential Trade Agreement is an agreement under which two or more partners give preferential right of entry to certain products. This is done by reducing duties on an agreed number of tariff lines. A positive list is maintained that is a list of products is exchanged on which the two partners agree to provide preferential access. Tariff may even be reduced to zero for some products even in a PTA. India has signed a PTA with Afghanistan. Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA)

Partnership agreement is more comprehensive than an FTA as it also covers agreement on the regulatory aspect of trade. CEPA covers negotiation on the trade in services and investment, and other areas of economic partnership such as trade facilitation and customs cooperation, competition, and IPR, etc.

India has signed CEPA with South Korea and Japan.

Comprehensive Economic Cooperation Agreement (CECA)

Comprehensive Economic Cooperation Agreement is also very comprehensive trade arrangement. However, it is not as comprehensive as CEPA as it covers agreements on trade tariff and TQR rates only.

India has signed CECA with Malaysia.

Framework agreement

Framework Agreement provides strategic frameworks and principles for dialogue on trade and investment related issues. It serves as a forum to meet and discuss issues of mutual interest with the objective of improving cooperation and enhancing opportunities for trade and investment. It helps understanding the trade potential among partner countries and sets the stage for future liberalisation.

India had signed framework agreements with the ASEAN, Japan etc.

Early Harvest Scheme

An Early Harvest scheme serves as a precursor to an FTA between two countries to help them identify certain products and services for liberalisation. It helps in strengthening the confidence between the two trading partners. An Early Harvest Scheme is thus a step towards enhanced engagement and confidence building. In early harvest trade deal parties sign off on a set of relatively easily achievable deliverables. Such pacts target specific goals such as tariff reduction and market access on selected goods and services while leaving more contentious topics off the agenda.

India signed an Early Harvest Scheme with UAE.

INDIA SERVES

Presently, India has different level of trade arrangements with over 50 countries at bilateral and multilateral level with different degrees of liberalisation besides its engagement at the WTO. These agreements offer preferential market access and economic cooperation with varied scope. The following table lists the major bilateral and regional agreements that India has signed and implemented:

Besides these major trade arrangements which have taken the shape of bilateral or multilateral FTAs, CECA and CEPA, there are many other agreements with comparatively limited scope. A list of almost all the trade agreements signed by India since independence has been given below. Some of these agreements deal only a specific sector, some deal with only goods and some deal with investments and likewise there are more specific areas of agreements.

A SERVES

Services Trade, GATS and FTAs

The creation of the GATS was one of the landmark achievements of the Uruguay Round at WTO. The results of the negotiations entered into force in January 1995. The GATS was inspired by essentially the same objectives as its counterpart in merchandise trade, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

All WTO members are at the same time members of the GATS and, to varying degrees, have assumed commitments in individual service sectors. GATS was indeed an important milestone in the journey of liberalisation of trade in services. Before GATS, services trade policy and services trade related negotiation was a challenging task due to the absence of proper classification and definition of the services sectors and unstructured and untapped flows of services supply.

The GATS classified the services trade flows into four modes of supplying services:

- 1. Cross-border supply: It is defined to cover services flows from the territory of one member into the territory of another member (e.g. banking or architectural services transmitted via telecommunications or mail);
- 2. Consumption abroad: It refers to situations where a service consumer (e.g. tourist or patient) moves into another member's territory to obtain a service;
- 3. Commercial presence: It implies that a service supplier of one member establishes a territorial presence, including through ownership or lease of premises, in another member's territory to provide a service (e.g. domestic subsidiaries of foreign insurance companies or hotel chains); and
- 4. Presence of natural persons: It consists of persons of one member entering the territory of another member to supply a service (e.g. accountants, doctors or teachers). The Annex on Movement of Natural Persons specifies, however, that members remain free to operate measures regarding citizenship, residence or access to the employment market on a permanent basis.

Obligations contained in the GATS are categorized into two broad groups:

- · General obligations that apply to all members and services sectors
- Specific obligations that apply only to the sectors inscribed in a member's schedule of commitments. Such commitments are laid down in individual schedules whose scope may vary widely between members.

Specific obligations are committed under two broad heads; Market access and National treatment.

- Market access: Market access is a negotiated commitment in specified sectors. It may be made subject to various types of limitations. For example, limitations may be imposed on the number of services suppliers, service operations or employees in the sector; the value of transactions; the legal form of the service supplier; or the participation of foreign capital.
- National treatment: A commitment to national treatment implies that the member concerned does not operate discriminatory measures benefiting domestic services or service suppliers. The key requirement is not to modify, in law or in fact, the conditions of competition in favour of the member's own service industry. Again, the extension of national treatment in any particular sector may be made subject to conditions and qualifications.

A snapshot of a part of India's schedule of commitment at the GATS is given below for better understanding.

Sector or Subsector	Limitations on Market Access	Limitations on National Treatment	Additional Commitments
Sector Specific Commit	ments
I. Business Services  A. Professional Services  a) Enginnering Services (CPC 8672)	<ol> <li>Unbound</li> <li>Unbound</li> <li>Only through incorporation with a foreign equity ceiling of 51 per cent</li> <li>Unbound execpt as indicated in the horizontal section</li> </ol>	<ol> <li>Unbound</li> <li>Unbound</li> <li>None</li> <li>Unbound execpt as indicated in the horizontal section</li> </ol>
B. Computer and Related Services  a. Consultancy related to the installation of computer hardware (CPC 841)  b. Software Implementation Services (CPC 842)  c. Data Processing Services (CPC 843)	<ol> <li>Unbound</li> <li>Unbound</li> <li>Only through incorporation with a foreign equity ceiling of 51 per cent</li> <li>Unbound execpt as indicated in the horizontal section</li> </ol>	<ol> <li>Unbound</li> <li>Unbound</li> <li>None</li> <li>Unbound execpt as indicated in the horizontal section</li> </ol>

Members are free to tailor the sector coverage and substantive content of such commitments as they see fit. The commitments thus tend to reflect national policy objectives and constraints, overall and in individual sectors. While some members have scheduled less than a handful of services, others have assumed market access and national treatment disciplines in over 120 out of a total of 160-odd services.

Each WTO member is required to have a Schedule of Specific Commitments which identifies the services for which the member guarantees market access and national treatment and any limitations that may be attached. The Schedule may also be used to assume additional commitments regarding, for example, the implementation of specified standards or regulatory principles. Commitments are undertaken with respect to each of the four different modes of service supply.

Most schedules consist of both sectoral and horizontal sections. The "Horizontal Section" contains entries that apply across all sectors subsequently listed in the schedule. Horizontal limitations often refer to a particular mode of supply, notably commercial presence and the presence of natural persons. The "Sector-Specific Sections" contain entries that apply only to the particular service.

The same schedule of commitment is used for the bilateral and multilateral FTAs. India has signed FTAs with schedule of commitments for services sectors with 10 ASEAN countries under INDIA-ASEAN FTA, and with South Korea, Japan, Singapore, Malaysia and Mauritius at bilateral levels. The details of the India-UAE FTA are not available in the public domain yet. Also, India is actively negotiating FTAs with EU, UK and Canada and we may soon have bilateral services trade commitments with these countries.

Free Trade Agreements or services trade liberalisation at bilateral and multilateral levels is very important for easy flow of services supply among countries. It helps not just in getting market access but also national treatment in the foreign markets. Some of the major entry restrictions or trade barriers faced by services exporters in the foreign markets are as follows;

- Restrictions on Foreign Direct Investments (FDI)
- Restrictions on commercial establishments
- Restrictions on employment
- Restrictions on professional practice
- Restrictions on foreign content
- · Restrictions on visa
- Licencing and qualifications related requirement
- · Conditions on number of years of experience
- · Conditions on procurement

- Around 21.5 million people, involved in the tourism industry, have lost their jobs due to the three waves of COVID-19 that first hit the country in early 2020, Union Tourism Minister G Kishan Reddy said on Monday. Reddy said tourist arrivals in the country were down by 93 percent during the first wave of COVID-19 outbreak, 79 percent in the second wave and 64 percent during the third wave. (Economic Times)
- With the pandemic ebbing away, the Centre on Tuesday restored the five-year e-tourist visas for people from 156 countries. The move is aimed at boosting tourism, which has suffered the most during the pandemic. Sources said that not only would foreigners be allowed to apply for fresh e-tourist visas but existing five-year visas will also be honoured now. Five-year visas allow foreigners multiple entries to India over the period. With tourist visas, foreigners can stay in India for up to 180 days in a year provided one stay is not longer than 90 days. (Indian Express)
- Green, and digital tourism will be the government's key focus areas over the next decade, as per the draft National Tourism Policy. Besides, the government has also identified factors that hamper the growth of the tourism sector in the country. These include 'perceptions related to safety and security', and weak engagement between the Centre and the states. Steps will be taken to address these issues, say officials from the Ministry of Tourism. (Indian Express)
- Two years after international travel was suspended due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the Union government has decided to restore all categories of tourist visas for foreign nationals and also issue fresh visas with immediate effect. The government has already decided to allow regular international flight operations, which were suspended since March 23, 2020 due to the Covid-19 pandemic. (Hindustan Times)
- The Union government is looking to promote India's medical facilities and infrastructure under a new 'heal in India' campaign, with plans to standardise processes and treatment packages for foreign nationals. The initiative is meant to reframe the industry to steer away from the connotations that come with the tag medical tourism, officials said. (HT)
- Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) about disastrous consequences of environmental factors on Indian agriculture, the Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI) will join hands with a private firm -- for the first time -- to build a marketplace for trading in carbon credits for farmers in the country. "GrowIndigo India Ltd", which is a collaborative effort between leading agriculture firm Mahyco and Indigo Ag, is executing a project with the IARI and International Wheat and Maize Improvement Centre (CIMMYT) (Business Standard)
- The Russian invasion of Ukraine roiled financial markets across the world, and the European carbon credit market was no exception. As the price of oil surged, carbon credit prices plummeted. After the invasion, the European Union Allowance (EUA) crashed, going from €95 per metric tonne to €55/t in five days, a 35% drop in value, according to Refinitiv. (CNBC)

5,907 businesses registered with the MSME ministry as micro, small and medium enterprises were shut during financial years 2020-21 and 2021-22 (till March 9, 2022) in the country, according to the government data. During FY21, 330 MSMEs got shut down. These included 155 Udyog-Aadhaar-Memorandum (UAM) registered units that were shut during April-June 2020 period and 175 Udyam-registered units between July 2020 and March 2021.
