Greetings from Services Exports Promotion Council (SEPC)!

At the outset, we extend our sincere thanks for your valued membership and your continued association with SEPC during the last financial year. Your engagement remains integral to strengthening India's services export ecosystem.

With the commencement of the Financial Year 2026-27, this is to inform you that your membership is now due for renewal, if it was valid up to the previous financial year. You are kindly requested to complete the renewal to continue availing SEPC support and benefits without interruption.

SEPC membership provides you with access to a range of opportunities and support mechanisms aimed at strengthening your export potential. SEPC membership offers you access to a well-integrated framework of opportunities and support mechanisms aimed at strengthening your export potential and global presence.

SEPC members are eligible to avail a range of benefits under the Export Promotion Mission (EPM) Scheme of the Department of Commerce. Through Niryat Disha and Niryat Protsahan, support is provided for participation in international exhibitions, trade fairs, buyer-seller meets, and focused market development initiatives—enabling meaningful global connections and enhanced market outreach. Complementing these initiatives, members can also avail benefits under the EPCG Scheme, which allows import of capital goods at concessional or zero customs duty. This facilitates upgradation of infrastructure, improves service delivery standards, and strengthens overall competitiveness in international markets.

Beyond policy-linked benefits, SEPC actively contributes as your growth partner by delivering practical, result-oriented support tailored to your business needs—ranging from timely access to credible business leads, sector-specific insights, and emerging market opportunities for informed decision-making, to ensuring a strong policy interface through continuous representation of members' interests with Government authorities. Members also benefit from curated global networking platforms for direct engagement with international buyers, partners, and stakeholders, enhancing their global visibility, along with regular webinars, workshops, and knowledge sessions to strengthen understanding of international markets and best practices. In addition, SEPC provides end-to-end guidance and facilitation for participation in international exhibitions and trade events, helping maximise outreach and business outcomes—collectively aimed at expanding market access, building capabilities, and driving sustained growth in global trade.

Together, these services are designed to add real value to your business by improving market access, strengthening capabilities, and creating new growth opportunities.
